Our videos are made with the fair use doctrine in mind. The footage wasn't used in order to impact your market, and minimal content was used to get our points across with commentary over it to educate our fans. These videos take hours of research, voice work, and editing. I try to use minimal footage as to not affect people like yourselves living. I fully believe my content is fair in use. Please refer to Hosseinzadeh v. Klein, 276 F. Supp.3d 34 (S.D.N.Y. 2017); Equals Three, LLC v. Jukin Media, Inc., 139 F. Supp. 3d 1094 (C.D. Cal. 2015); Frey R. Werner, ET AL. V. Landon Dowlati Singh, ET AL. (C.D. Cal. 2018). You could've messaged me to remove the video, and I would've responded promptly, and cut out your segment, out of respect for an artist. (Not on the grounds of copyright abuse) Instead, you sent a DMCA takedown request on my video. Fair use doesn't require citing works, it doesn't require a license, and you can profit from a picture or video, whilst it still falls under fair use. Section 107 of the copyright act, was specifically created to promote freedom of expression by permitting the unlicensed use of copyright-protected works in certain circumstances. This can be as simple as commenting on the subject. I am not trying to substitute your original work, I am using a factual work that was published on the internet. A short segment with commentary over it was used to get our points across on the subject matter. Note: if this DMCA strike was over a face, or you just really don't want your portion of the video on my channel, I'm more than a reasonable person. I'd remove it on the grounds of respecting your privacy, and your art, not on the grounds of copyright abuse. Contact me at: Top5bestbusiness@gmail.com and once the copyright strike is removed, I'll remove the content out of the video using YouTube's editor tool within the same day the video is reinstated. You'll also have to give me the timestamps of where your content is placed within the video.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

The content under consideration is protected by the Fair Use Doctrine of the US copyright law. The content is transformed fairly, has not damaged the marketing potential of the original video, and is used with our commentary which adds a specific value to that clip. The amount of the clip used is very less, is used with commentary as a reference and has different audio work applied to it. This video includes licensed content from different owners and is our original work, including our topic research, video direction, writing, video editor, graphic designer, and narrator's hard work. Secondly, the video is our original work, if any clips can cause problems for us or for someone else, we remove those scenes from our videos to avoid problems. If you don't want your footage featured in our videos, we will remove those scenes despite our use being fair. We tried contacting the claimant but got no response. Thanks

We do not agree with the claim, because it completely contradicts the basic principle of "Fair Use", according to which our videos were created with the greatest care and responsibility. Both of the removed videos are for educational purposes only, and were meant to create a deeper awareness of how certain atmospheric phenomena, such as high winds and tornadoes, work. The claimed content is a tiny fraction of the total length of our work, namely 5 seconds and 8 seconds. It is not therefore any misuse of the claimed content, as it was only used for illustrative purposes and in a very short period of time. Our resulting work is completely different from the claimed content and is accompanied by expert commentary. Under Section 107 of the Copyright Act 1976, FAIR USE is permitted for purposes such as criticism, commentary, reporting, teaching, scholarship and research. It permits the unlicensed use of copyrighted material for these purposes. The key is whether the use of the copyrighted material is "transformative". That is, whether the use adds new expression or meaning to the original material, or whether it merely copies it from the original, without any added value. In our opinion, the above-mentioned facts and legal insights confirm that the claim is unjustified and we request its withdrawal.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Without prejudice, our mashup news commentary video passes fair use tests. Based on your claim, we used 1- & 2-seconds in our 10- & 13-min videos. Regardless, we're referencing NatGeo TV segments (based on watermark) which may have licensed the underlying asset you claim we're infringing. The infringement accusation would have to be based on those TV segments (when they license stock, they understand that as editorial, other media may reference them). Unless you can demonstrate that our work i) constitutes copyright infringement of NatGeo segments, ii) cause irreparable harm, iii) can quantify damages, then please release the claim as legally, our video is permitted under law. That said, we do license media as well, so if you want to send a rate card, we can share with the team. But here, we are referencing TV episodes and shows, and the copyright infringement tests of fair use would be on those shows.

To Whom It May Concern, I am writing to formally contest the DMCA takedown request issued against my video on YouTube. I firmly believe that my content adheres to the principles of fair use as outlined in Section 107 of the Copyright Act. Purpose and Character of Use: My videos are created with the intention of providing commentary and education to our audience. They involve significant research, voice work, and editing, transforming the original content into something new and unique. Nature of the Copyrighted Work: The content I utilized is factual and was publicly available on the internet. Amount and Substantiality: Only minimal footage was used, essential to convey our commentary and points effectively. Effect on the Market: The use of the footage does not in any way substitute or negatively impact the market for the original work. For legal precedents supporting my claim, please refer to: Hosseinzadeh v. Klein, 276 F.Supp.3d 34 (S.D.N.Y. 2017) Equals Three, LLC v. Jukin Media, Inc., 139 F. Supp. 3d 1094 (C.D. Cal. 2015) Frey R. Werner, ET AL. V. Landon Dowlatsingh, ET AL., (C.D. Cal. 2018) I would like to emphasize that open communication could have been a more constructive approach. Had you reached out with concerns, I would have been willing to address them promptly, out of respect for your work and privacy, not necessarily due to copyright infringement. If the issue pertains to a specific segment or portrayal, please provide timestamps of the content in question. Once the copyright strike is lifted, I commit to removing or editing the specified content using YouTube's editor tool within 24 hours of the video's reinstatement. Please contact me directly at Top5bestbusiness@gmail.com to discuss this matter further. Thank you for your understanding and consideration.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I believe that removing my video (www.youtube.com/watch?v=cWxt_gDuq) was wrong because my use of copyrighted material is protected by a fair use policy whereby in certain situations I can use copyrighted material without permission from the copyright holder. The source material is based on commonly known facts and is not fiction. The borrowed excerpt is not a significant part of the original video and is considered bona fide. The excerpt does not contain the main message of the original work. The main message in the original work has been completely changed, and the content I used was not the focus of the original work.

Using someone else's content without permission to create explainer videos as well as news stories can be considered bona fide. All of my videos contain details of natural disasters with interesting content and historical events to increase viewers' knowledge and to diversify their leisure time. The videos and content I create are subject to YouTube rules. I pledge not to use copyrighted content from certain individuals or organizations to make money. However, my channel has had problems due to an infringement notice and my videos have been removed by you. In the end, we hope the incident was just a misunderstanding. I hereby confirm that the statements I made are true. I take responsibility for my words. I hope the Youtube team will reconsider your decision.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Under the 'Fair Use Act' I have used my ability to use the content in a transformative way. The use of the content was very short (under 20 seconds) and to give context to viewers to the basis of my opinions and thoughts on the topic, and it was in no way meant to duplicate or take credit from the creator of the content. For this reason I really don't see my use of the content as a worthy reason for the copyright strike.

disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Display name of uploader: Curiosopedia

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of Curiosopedia. Channel available at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCYbpDVVRP4Jmh6WGidDSA>. On November 13th, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by ViralDRM (claimant) targeting the following video and respective content for allegedly infringing its copyrights: Los 20 Desastres Naturales Más Atteradores Capturados En Video, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. A fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 USC § 107 are met: (1) the use is essentially transformative—our video is a compilation of multiple extreme weather events that goes way beyond the specific weather event depicted in the clip; our main purpose is to educate viewers about the different facets of climate change in the world as a whole, not specifically to the location and time of the clipped event; we gave new meaning to the original expression by adding commentary, background audio (voice-over), transitions, color grading, visual and sound effects, which required the writing of a script based on 15-20 topics. (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual—the original clip lacks any artistic decision because it is simply raw footage of a weather event; (3) the amount of use is minimal—the used clip has 3 seconds of a total of 13:39 minutes from the original video; hence we only used less than 1% of the original video, which is very minimal; and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected—we don't sell or license our videos to news or weather channels; our target audience is restricted to YouTube viewers. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Without prejudice, our mashup news commentary video passes fair use tests. Based on your claim, we used 1- & 2-seconds in our 10- & 13-min videos. Regardless, we're referencing NatGeo TV segments (based on watermark) which may have licensed the underlying asset you claim we're infringing. The infringement accusation would have to be based on those TV segments (when they license stock, they understand that as editorial, other media may reference them). Unless you can demonstrate that our work i) constitutes copyright infringement of NatGeo segments, ii) cause irreparable harm, iii) can quantify damages, then please release the claim as legally, our video is permitted under law. That said, we do license media as well, so if you want to send a rate card, we can share with the team. But here, we are referencing TV episodes and shows, and the copyright infringement tests of fair use would be on those shows.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

We do not agree with the claim, because it completely contradicts the basic principle of "Fair Use", according to which our videos were created with the greatest care and responsibility. Both of the removed videos are for educational purposes only, and were meant to create a deeper awareness of how certain atmospheric phenomena, such as high winds and tornadoes, work. The claimed content is a tiny fraction of the total length of our work, namely 5 seconds. It is not therefore any misuse of the claimed content, as it was only used for illustrative purposes and in a very short period of time. Our resulting work is completely different from the claimed content and is accompanied by expert commentary.

Under Section 107 of the Copyright Act 1976, FAR USE is permitted for purposes such as criticism, commentary, reporting, teaching, scholarship and research. It permits the unlicensed use of copyrighted material for these purposes. The key is whether the use of the copyrighted material is "transformative". That is, whether the use adds new expression or meaning to the original material, or whether it merely copies it from the original, without any added value. In our opinion, the above-mentioned facts and legal insights confirm that the claim is unjustified and we request its withdrawal.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Display name of uploader: The Untold Facts

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of The Untold Facts ("Channel") available at <https://www.youtube.com/@TheUntoldFactsTV>. On November 13, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by Reed Trimmer ("claimant") targeting the following videos and respective content for infringing his copyrights: (1) JAW-DROPPING Tornado Drone Footage Shows Kansas Town Get Ripped Apart, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. The use of this clip is essentially transformative because it was given new meaning to the original expression. This was done by adding commentary, background audio, transitions, colour grading, visual effects and sound effects.

Thus, transforming the short clip and giving it a totally new meaning. Additionally, the clip was such a small segment in the video itself, so for them to be claiming a DMCA takedown request on the entire video is unfair and unjust. This takedown request triggered our concern that (i) the claimant might have submitted the takedown request by mistake or misidentification, (ii) the claimant might not hold ownership of the intellectual property rights related to the artwork, (iii) the takedown request is abusive, and (iv) our fair use assessment was proper under 17 U.S.C. § 107. Finally, a fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 U.S.C. § 107 can be easily met, that is (1) the use is essentially transformative, (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual, (3) the amount of use is minimal, and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel. Your Truly, Rafael Barreto-Garcia Lawyer for The Untold Facts YouTube Channel.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of Factsopedia. Channel available at <https://www.youtube.com/@FactsopediaOfficial/featured>. On November 12th, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by ViralDRM (claimant) targeting the following video and respective content for allegedly infringing its copyrights: This Takes Hundreds of Lives a Year, But Only 5% Know About It, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. A fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 USC § 107 are met: (1) the use is essentially transformative—our video is a compilation of multiple extreme weather events that goes way beyond the specific weather event depicted in the clip; our main purpose is to educate viewers about the different facets of climate change in the world as a whole, not specifically to the location and time of the clipped event; we gave new meaning to the original expression by adding commentary, background audio (voice-over), transitions, color grading, visual and sound effects, which required the writing of a script based on 15-20 topics. (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual—the original clip lacks any artistic decision because it is simply raw footage of a weather event; (3) the amount of use is minimal—the used clip has 6 seconds of a total of 6:05 minutes from the original video; hence we only used about 1% of the original video, which is very minimal; and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected—we don't sell or license our videos to news or weather channels; our target audience is restricted to YouTube viewers. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel.

To Whom It May Concern, I am writing to formally contest the DMCA takedown request issued against my video on YouTube. I firmly believe that my content adheres to the principles of fair use as outlined in Section 107 of the Copyright Act. Purpose and Character of Use: My videos are created with the intention of providing commentary and education to our audience. They involve significant research, voice work, and editing, transforming the original content into something new and unique. Nature of the Copyrighted Work: The content I utilized is factual and was publicly available on the internet. Amount and Substantiality: Only minimal footage was used, essential to convey our commentary and points effectively. Effect on the Market: The use of the footage does not in any way substitute or negatively impact the market for the original work. For legal precedents supporting my claim, please refer to: Hosseinzadeh v. Klein, 276 F.Supp.3d 34 (S.D.N.Y. 2017) Equals Three, LLC v. Jukin Media, Inc., 139 F. Supp. 3d 1094 (C.D. Cal. 2015) Frey R. Werner, ET AL. V. Landon Dowlatsingh, ET AL., (C.D. Cal. 2018) I would like to emphasize that open communication could have been a more constructive approach. Had you reached out with concerns, I would have been willing to address them promptly, out of respect for your work and privacy, not necessarily due to copyright infringement. If the issue pertains to a specific segment or portrayal, please provide timestamps of the content in question. Once the copyright strike is lifted, I commit to removing or editing the specified content using YouTube's editor tool within 24 hours of the video's reinstatement. Please contact me directly at Top5bestbusiness@gmail.com to discuss this matter further. Thank you for your understanding and consideration.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

Display name of uploader: The Untold Facts

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of The Untold Facts ("Channel") available at <https://www.youtube.com/@TheUntoldFactsTV>. On November 15, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by Reed Trimmer ("claimant") targeting the following videos and respective content for infringing his copyrights: (1) 4K MASSIVE WEDGE TORNADO in Linneus Missouri, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. The use of this clip is essentially transformative because it was given new meaning to the original expression. This was done by adding commentary, background audio, transitions, colour grading, visual effects and sound effects. Thus, transforming the short clip and giving it a totally new meaning. Additionally, the clip was such a small segment in the video itself, so for them to be claiming a DMCA takedown request on the entire video is unfair and unjust. This takedown request triggered our concern that (i) the claimant might have submitted the takedown request by mistake or misidentification, (ii) the claimant might not hold ownership of the intellectual property rights related to the artwork, (iii) the takedown request is abusive, and (iv) our fair use assessment was proper under 17 U.S.C. § 107. Finally, a fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 U.S.C. § 107 can be easily met, that is (1) the use is essentially transformative, (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual, (3) the amount of use is minimal, and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel. Your Truly, Rafael Barreto-Garcia Lawyer for The Untold Facts YouTube Channel.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

To Whom It May Concern, I am writing to formally contest the DMCA takedown request issued against my video on YouTube. I firmly believe that my content adheres to the principles of fair use as outlined in Section 107 of the Copyright Act. Purpose and Character of Use: My videos are created with the intention of providing commentary and education to our audience. They involve significant research, voice work, and editing, transforming the original content into something new and unique. Nature of the Copyrighted Work: The content I utilized is factual and was publicly available on the internet. Amount and Substantiality: Only minimal footage was used, essential to convey our commentary and points effectively. Effect on the Market: The use of the footage does not in any way substitute or negatively impact the market for the original work. We received a counter notification (below) in response to a copyright removal request that you submitted. A counter notification is a legal request for YouTube to reinstate a video that was removed due to a copyright removal request.

You have 10 US business days to reply to this counter notification. Your response must include evidence that you've taken legal action against the uploader to keep the content from being reinstated to YouTube. Usually, evidence would include a lawsuit against the uploader, which names the YouTube URL(s) at issue and seeks a court order to restrain the alleged infringement.

Evidence should be submitted by replying directly to this email. Do not send your reply to copyright@youtube.com.

After 10 US business days, if we don't get a response from you, the content at issue may be reinstated to YouTube. You can find more information about the legal action you must take and what evidence is acceptable in our Help Center.

Counter Notification as follows:

Videos included in counter notification:

- <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ROrLeZekTcQ>

Display name of uploader: FactFile

Our videos are made with the fair use doctrine in mind. The footage wasn't used in order to impact your market, and minimal content was used to get our points across with commentary over it to educate our fans. These videos take hours of research, voice work, and editing. I try to use minimal footage as to not affect people like yourselves living. I fully believe my content is fair in use. Please refer to Hosseinzadeh v. Klein, 276 F. Supp.3d 34 (S.D.N.Y. 2017); Equals Three, LLC v. Jukin Media, Inc., 139 F. Supp. 3d 1094 (C.D. Cal. 2015); Frey R. Werner, ET AL. V. Landon Dowlati Singh, ET AL. (C.D. Cal. 2018). You could've messaged me to remove the video, and I would've responded promptly, and cut out your segment, out of respect for an artist. (Not on the grounds of copyright abuse) Instead, you sent a DMCA takedown request on my video. Fair use doesn't require citing works, it doesn't require a license, and you can profit from a picture or video, whilst it still falls under fair use. Section 107 of the copyright act, was specifically created to promote freedom of expression by permitting the unlicensed use of copyright-protected works in certain circumstances. This can be as simple as commenting on the subject. I am not trying to substitute your original work, I am using a factual work that was published on the internet. A short segment with commentary over it was used to get our points across on the subject matter. Note: if this DMCA strike was over a face, or you just really don't want your portion of the video on my channel, I'm more than a reasonable person. I'd remove it on the grounds of respecting your privacy, and your art, not on the grounds of copyright abuse. Contact me at: Top5bestbusiness@gmail.com and once the copyright strike is removed, I'll remove the content out of the video using YouTube's editor tool within the same day the video is reinstated. You'll also have to give me the timestamps of where your content is placed within the video.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of El Amerikano. Channel available at https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC0Yyn_LocqY5P6dEkMScbA. On November 8th, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by ViralDRM (claimant) targeting the following video and respective content for allegedly infringing its copyrights: Este Fenómeno Se Cobra Cientos De Vidas Al Año, Pero Solo El 15% De Las Personas Lo Conocen, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. A fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 USC § 107 are met: (1) the use is essentially transformative—our video is a compilation of multiple extreme weather events that goes way beyond the specific weather event depicted in the clip; our main purpose is to educate viewers about the different facets of climate change in the world as a whole, not specifically to the location and time of the clipped event; we gave new meaning to the original expression by adding commentary, background audio (voice-over), transitions, color grading, visual and sound effects, which required the writing of a script based on 15-20 topics. (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual—the original clip lacks any artistic decision because it is simply raw footage of a weather event; (3) the amount of use is minimal—the used clip has 4 seconds of a total of 7:04 minutes from the original video; hence we only used about 1% or less of the original video, which is very minimal; and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected—we don't sell or license our videos to news or weather channels; our target audience is restricted to YouTube viewers. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I believe my video was removed due to an error or misidentification. My content is covered by copyright exception law, namely, Fair use. The claimant misidentified the purpose of my video. My content is within fair use and fair dealing. If you review my video you will see that the main purpose of my work is reaction, criticism and Review. In my video, I provide my extensive commentary to review and criticise the clip in question and use a reaction format which is protected by fair use due to its transformative nature and has legal precedent. I believe I have the right to use this material due to fair use law. My video also does not cause damages to the claimant, it does not replace it and does not put it in negative light. There is no basis for this video to be taken down and that's why I believe that the claimant misidentified the video and made a mistake in requesting a takedown notice. This is unlawful and unfair. I submit this counter-notification in accordance to the following law: Fair use is protected and Codified in Section 107 of the Copyright Act. As stated, Fair use allows persons other than the copyright owner to make certain limited uses of copyrighted material without the copyright owner's permission (17 U.S.C. § 107). Fair use is an affirmative defense to copyright infringement, with legal precedent.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

Our videos are made with the fair use doctrine in mind. The footage wasn't used in order to impact your market, and minimal content was used to get our points across with commentary over it to educate our fans. These videos take hours of research, voice work, and editing. I try to use minimal footage as to not affect people like yourselves living. I fully believe my content is fair in use. Please refer to Hosseinzadeh v. Klein, 276 F. Supp.3d 34 (S.D.N.Y. 2017); Equals Three, LLC v. Jukin Media, Inc., 139 F. Supp. 3d 1094 (C.D. Cal. 2015); Frey R. Werner, ET AL. V. Landon Dowlati Singh, ET AL. (C.D. Cal. 2018). You could've messaged me to remove the video, and I would've responded promptly, and cut out your segment, out of respect for an artist. (Not on the grounds of copyright abuse) Instead, you sent a DMCA takedown request on my video. Fair use doesn't require citing works, it doesn't require a license, and you can profit from a picture or video, whilst it still falls under fair use. Section 107 of the copyright act, was specifically created to promote freedom of expression by permitting the unlicensed use of copyright-protected works in certain circumstances. This can be as simple as commenting on the subject. I am not trying to substitute your original work, I am using a factual work that was published on the internet. A short segment with commentary over it was used to get our points across on the subject matter. Note: if this DMCA strike was over a face, or you just really don't want your portion of the video on my channel, I'm more than a reasonable person. I'd remove it on the grounds of respecting your privacy, and your art, not on the grounds of copyright abuse. Contact me at: Top5bestbusiness@gmail.com and once the copyright strike is removed, I'll remove the content out of the video using YouTube's editor tool within the same day the video is reinstated. You'll also have to give me the timestamps of where your content is placed within the video.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of Factsopedia. Channel available at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC5TSQsuu5SXR5B7RiWCVSA/> On November 16th, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by ViralDRM (claimant) targeting the following video and respective content for allegedly infringing its copyrights: 20 People Almost Struck by Lightning, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. A fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 USC § 107 are met: (1) the use is essentially transformative—our video is a compilation of multiple extreme weather events that goes way beyond the specific weather event depicted in the clip; our main purpose is to educate viewers about the different facets of climate change in the world as a whole, not specifically to the location and time of the clipped event; we gave new meaning to the original expression by adding commentary, background audio (voice-over), transitions, color grading, visual and sound effects, which required the writing of a script based on 15-20 topics. (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual—the original clip lacks any artistic decision because it is simply raw footage of a weather event; (3) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected—we don't sell or license our videos to news or weather channels; our target audience is restricted to YouTube viewers. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.

I believe my video was removed due to an error or misidentification. My content is covered by copyright exception law, namely, Fair use. The claimant misidentified the purpose of my video. My content is within fair use and fair dealing. If you review my video you will see that the main purpose of my work is reaction, criticism and Review. In my video, I provide my extensive commentary to review and criticise the clip in question and use a reaction format which is protected by fair use due to its transformative nature and has legal precedent. I believe I have the right to use this material due to fair use law. My video also does not cause damages to the claimant, it does not replace it and does not put it in negative light. There is no basis for this video to be taken down and that's why I believe that the claimant misidentified the video and made a mistake in requesting a takedown notice. This is unlawful and unfair. I submit this counter-notification in accordance to the following law: Fair use is protected and Codified in Section 107 of the Copyright Act. As stated, Fair use allows persons other than the copyright owner to make certain limited uses of copyrighted material without the copyright owner's permission (17 U.S.C. § 107). Fair use is an affirmative defense to copyright infringement, with legal precedent.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of The Untold Facts ("Channel") available at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UCDUno-cyO2bU6P5RmNG6oQ>. On November 15, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by Chris Tangney ("claimant") targeting the following videos and respective content for infringing his copyrights: (1) If These Phenomena Weren't Recorded, No One

Would Believe It, where less than 1 second of a clip that was transformed and modified used and claimed as an original work. The use of this clip is essentially transformative because it was given new meaning to the original expression. This was done by adding commentary, background audio, transitions, colour grading, visual effects and sound effects. Thus, transforming the short clip and giving it a totally new meaning. Additionally, the clip was such a small segment in the video itself, so for them to be claiming a DMCA takedown request on the entire video is unfair and unjust. This takedown request triggered our concern that (i) the claimant might have submitted the takedown request by mistake or misidentification, (ii) the claimant might not hold ownership of the intellectual property rights related to the artwork, (iii) the takedown request is abusive, and (iv) our fair use assessment was proper under 17 U.S.C. § 107. Finally, a fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 U.S.C. § 107 can be easily met, that is (1) the use is essentially transformative, (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual, (3) the amount of use is minimal, and (4) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel. Your Truly, Rafael Barreto-Garcia Lawyer for Binge Watch YouTube Channel.

I swear, under penalty of perjury, that I have a good faith belief the material was removed due to a mistake or misidentification of the material to be removed or disabled.

This is a copyright counter notification on behalf of Factsopedia. Channel available at <https://www.youtube.com/channel/UC5TSQsuw5SXR5B7RiW/CVSA>. On November 16th, 2023, our Channel received a content removal request by ViralDRM (claimant) targeting the following video and respective content for allegedly infringing its copyrights: Driver Sees This on the Road and Immediately Knows He's In Trouble, where a short clip was used and claimed as an original work. A fair use exception applies to the use of the clip because the four factors under 17 USC § 107 are met: (1) the use is essentially transformative—our video is a compilation of multiple extreme weather events that goes way beyond the specific weather event depicted in the clip; our main purpose is to educate viewers about the different facets of climate change in the world as a whole, not specifically to the location and time of the clipped event; we gave new meaning to the original expression by adding commentary, background audio (voice-over), transitions, color grading, visual and sound effects, which required the writing of a script based on 15-20 topics such as: - Topic 20: "Witch in the desert" . - Topic 19: "Hennessey Fire" - Topic 17: "Men In Black On a Highway At Night" (2) the nature of the material is substantially factual—the original clip lacks any artistic decision because it is simply raw footage of a weather event; (3) the original copyright owner's ability to profit remains unaffected—we don't sell or license our videos to news or weather channels; our target audience is restricted to YouTube viewers. For the reasons above we respectfully request the reinstatement of the content we believe was mistakenly removed from our Channel.

I consent to the jurisdiction of the Federal District Court for the district in which my address is located, or if my address is outside of the United States, the judicial district in which YouTube is located, and will accept service of process from the claimant.
